DATED : JANUARY 18, 2005

PC :-

. Heard counsel for the parties.

2. Having seen the allegations made in the complaint and the corresponding documents pressed in to service, it is clear that something had happened in the morning on 7th of December, 2004, which precipitated by requiring Applicant No.1 and his wife, the deceased, to leave the house. As the incident in question has happened on the same day, whether it is the case of suicide or otherwise is a matter of investigation. Going by the documents presently on record and having regard to the seriousness of of the offence, not a case for anticipatory bail.

3. Hence, rejected.
